ELDHER MOLLER FREED

London, Sept. 16 .- The Chinese Nationalist Government has told Britain it has released the 800-ton Brifish ship, Edith Moller, detained for over three weeks, a Foreign Office spekesman stated here today.

Britain protested earlier this month against the ship's detention, which was a result of the Chinese Government's blockade of Communist-held ports,

Rabies Menace

LARGE number of dog owners still A do not seem to realise that the rables menace in Hongkong has become extremely serious, and are still permitting their dogs to roam about in public unmuzzled and unleashed. Numbers of such animals may be observed on a walk through any business or residential district. At the beaches, which are normally crowded at this time of the year, dogs have also been seen on the loose, without being properly muzzled, as required by law. The danger cannot be over-emphasised. How grave the situation is may be seen from the following official figures. - Twenty-three dogs have died from rables since the beginning of this year—three only this week. Six persons bitten within the period have died horrible and painful deaths, while n seventh is under observation. Hundreds of people are being bitten each month; there were no fewer than 679 undergoing anti-rables treatment in August alone. These figures give abundant cause for alarm. The authorities, who have watched the situation with growing concern, are planning ha extensive propaganda campnign in an effort to make the general public aware of the danger in their midst. The public, however, are helpless unless dog owners co-operate. These must. be made to understand that by permitting their dogs to go about un-muzzled, they are not only courting trouble for their own animals but also menacing their own families as well as other citizens. There nro enough stray dogs in the Colony without careless owners adding to the public risk by not taking the proper precautions. The time has arrived for the adoption of stricter measures of control. The best immediate course of action would appear to be to make antirables inoculation of all licensed animals .compulsory. This precaution is already being adopted by many owners, and there is no reason why it should not be extended, by making it compulsory, to cover all registered dogs. And just as it is required that all dogs licensed should carry their registration numbers on their collars, so should all those nnimals thus inoculated carry some indication on their collars that they have had this protection. The law should be amended to make owners subject to heavy penalty if they do not comply with the requirement. The measure, while it attacks only one side of the problem, must certainly help towards Jessening the danger that exists, to human beings as well as to animals. We ask the authorities to take prompt action along these lines. The urgency cannot be gainsaid.

The British film party with no British film stars is typical of our part in what is still tho most important, for prestige and propaganda, of all the European film festivals. While other nations have sent their best films and accompanied them with batches of stars and producers (Joan Fontalne, Yvonne de Carlo, Joseph Cotten, David Selznick and Darryl Zanuck, for example, from America) Britain has blundered through this festival with about the same care as a drunk negotiating the Piccadilly

Lack of tack

Right from the start the British have been making mistakes. It began with the list of films they chose to show. Among . t h e productions chosen by the British Film Producers' Association was Peter Ustinov's "Private Angelo."

Its hero is an amiable but cowardly Italian soldler. Another character is a high Italian officer who combines great charm with a staunch determination to dodge any of the discomforts of war. The cowardly soldier's village girl friend has a baby by an Allied soldier while he is running away from

When the festival committee saw "Private Angelo" they were shocked. They pointed out that the merits of the film besides its ironic comments on Italian courage were hardly a subject to put into an Italian festival.

.They asked the British to remove the film from the list. The British replied that if the Italians did not want to see it they must throw it out themselves. It has now been withdrawn, and I leave you to guess who did the withdrawing.

Lack of sense

- international tactlessness was followed by what seems nothing less , than lack of intelligence. For the next film presented was "The Elusive Pimpernel," with David Niven and Margaret Leighton. As long as a month ago it was decided in London that this film was unsatisfactory and needed re-editing and reshooting. Nevertheless, it was shown to the festival audience in its original form. They hissed it.

Only Jean Simmons emerged from it, in the opinion of the COLOR festival, with any credit. And British films got their third bad advertisement of the week. Against those three disasters there have been two British successes.

"The Last Days of Dolwyn," Edith Evans, got a warm welcome, and Italian critics have "Kind Hearts and Coronets" and liked it-particusuch favourites as June Ally- done anything for us for two Her contract now gave her larly the performance of Alec

Richard Strauss Memorial Concert Over Radio Hongkong On Sunday

A Richard Strauss Memorial Concert will be brondcast over Radio Hongkong on Sunday from 9.15 p.m. The programme will consist of the symphonic poem, 'Ein Heldenleben" ("A Hero's Life"), by the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra. conducted by Sir Thomas Beecham, and "Metamorphosen," played by the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Herbert Von Karajen.

The comedy team of Jimmy and Joy (Jimmy Edwards and Joy Nichols) goes on the air on Thursday at 8.30 p.m. in "Take It From Here." Jimmy is a founder member of the Handlebar Club and sports one of the most impressive moustaches in British broadcasting.

Often referred to as "Professor" Edwards, he is entitled to put the letters M.A. after his name. He had a distinguished wartime career in the Royal Air Force and has been awarded the Distinguished Fly-, ing Cross.

Joy Nichols, who completes the "Take It From Here" team with Jimmy Edwards and Dick Bentley, is from Sydney, Australia. Her people intended her to be a teacher but since she was tiny she spent most of her spare time in children's broadcast sessions and broadcasting, quite naturally, grew on her.

LONDON. ND this, Ronald Paterson, a comparative newcomer in the fleld of fashion, has done with some success. He followed the general "lady-like" trend that has emerged from the autumn collections, but brought to it refreshing originality.

He believes that clothes should be international in appeal; and that the relationship of fabric to design govern fashion, to make timely clothes of the day wearable in all climates. His day dresses are skilfully designed so that they can be made in creps, silk, rayon or wool, whichever is most preferred. He believes, too, that the modern woman, dress featured a tiny pleated living in an age of great braque over the pleated skirt; nctivity, demands clearer think- two black dresses specially.

Which brings us back to the question, why are they single? This is not a rhetorical quesit is asked — and answered-in good faith. We Americans are an efficient people. We take the scientific viewpoint; we substitute cold, clean statistics for the fuzzy emotional reactions the rest of you might expect when you ask a question like that.

Just think of it; to prepare this book, thousands of researchers. as such investigators call themselves, went around to homes and offices and asked searching questions. Or if we put this. into the language of the book. The American Investigator went and questioned the American Woman and, perhaps not quite so carefully, the American Man as well.

He also interviewed the American Psychoanalyst.

SOFTBALL CHATTER

GENEROUS GESTURE FROM CLUB DE RECREIO

By "STARDUST"

The Hongkong Softball Association has had its acute problem of playing ground-shortage eased during the past week with the announcement that permission has been granted the Association to use the Recreio football ground on the same basis as in past seasons.

That is the Association will have the unrestricted use of the ground for league games on Saturday afternoons and for the full day on Sundays. Club de Recreto, who intended to use the ground for hockey, have earned the general appreciation of all softball followers in the Colony by their co-operation at a most opportune time when the Association faced a new season with but a dire prospect of obtaining suitably located playing fields.

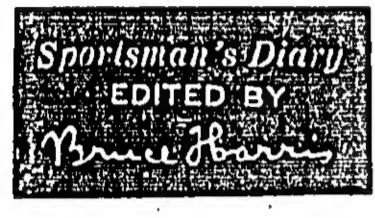

If the Central British Association responds to the application of the Association for the use of the fence-enclosed CBA park, local softball will have the same playing localities as were available during the 1948-49 season.

Footballers To The Next

Sixteen bare-footed Nigerian footballers arrived in Liverpool on August 29 to play nine matches against leading English amateur teams. They are the first representative Nigerian team ever to visit this country. The Nigerian Football Association which is promoting the tour is affiliated to the Football Association in London. The extent of its control can best be judged by the size of the territory, which is approximately 370,000 square miles, more than four times that of Great Britain.

OLYMPIC IDEAS

"We want to see during our nonth's tour how Nigerlan football compares with the best English amateur standards," says Mr Donald Holley, the team manager. "We have In mind entering a team for the Olympic Games." Apart from their football the Nigorians are regarding, as the highlight of their tour, the Sunday night meal of their own cooking in their favourite Nigerian oils, which they have

Knarf Builds A Motor Boat -Willy Toad Made It Go "Put-Put"-

By MAX TRELL

THERE was a motor-boat on the lake, and all day long it scurried across the water. Knarf and Hanid watched it for several days, and finally Knarf said: "I wish I had a motor-boat like that."

"So do I," agreed Hanid. "Can't we build one?"

. Hanid said she didn't think so. "First we need a boat, and then anything to happen whilst he we need a motor. It's very hard

"Well," said Knarf," maybe build a boat"

Building A Boat

So Knarf set about building a there were plenty! And there boat. He found an empty match was something else too-torn box. He and Hanid dragged-it- "After thinking for a moment pieces of paper! LIKE to get my hands from netual play or from kibitzing. It takes a lot of kiblizing to get an unusual , band, but then I can present the situation as it came up at the eard table.

Today's hand is one Fielbitzed int a table where S. Seldman, of New York City, was playing. Marie hands are written of by A by American tourists the players with "That was a for "the real old England" bad break, all the trumps in reports that one of them one hand." But do not give up is "determined to keep an when you get such a bad break, eye on the past." Give vourself o chance, as Seidman did.

the ace of hearts, and his partner having played the hireupot he continued with a small heart. Seldman ruffed this with the three of spades. Then he appeared dummy's ten of diamonds, which held. He led the ace of spades from dummy and West showed out. East now had more trumps than the deciarer.

However, Seldman decided to give himself a chance. He eashed the ace, king and queen of clubs, discarding two hearts from dummy. He led his last diamond and Anessed the jack. The acc of diamonds was played. East ruffed with the four of spades, declarer over-ruffed.

Seldman then led a club, trumped in dummy -with the ten of spades, East disearding the king of hearts. Another diamond was led, East had to and declarer overtrumped. East, who had five trumps originally, found it impossible to make a trump trick.

Are we too musical?

THE question used to be A asked, "Are we musical?" Today the question is, "Are we too musical?" Sir Thomas Beecham has pointed out that the country is swarming with orchestras, There are not enough really good players to them. In Wisbech, for instance, it was noticed that an oboeist was fumbling with the wrong end of his instrument, and the cymbalist in the South Fogstone Superphilharmonic mangled a violinist's finger during a rowdy passage in Bartok's "Hidas-Nemeti Suite," At Market Harborough a bassoon player admitted that he could only manage the higher notes, as he was taken straight from the recruiting depot and pushed into the concert hall. This is not in the best interests of music.

Financial notes

THE discovery that the Bank I for International Settlements at Basic has been working on a bilateral basis, while preparing the clearing houses for multilateralism in trade currency, has removed one obstacle to the stabilisation of tariffs. An energetic policy of Heence-restriction would soon ease the dollar-balance, by releasing money for intra-European payments and by pegging down exchange rates. The whole problem is more economic than financial, and the trend is in itetreats from fibbers, maybe.

BORN today, your high degree of versa-tility is sometimes a handicap to your success. You can do so many things passably well that you may be tempted to "slide along" easily through life without perfecting any one talent. This is a grave mistake, for with con-centration you could become outstanding in some one field, rather than a dilettante in

Your perception is very keen and you grasp the significance of a situation almost instantly. You have innate business ability, but do not make the fullest of it at all times. It will, however, insure you against over being "out of funds" for long, for you always can earn a bare living at somethingand you will do it if you have to.

Being a good manager, you are more the executive type than the individual worker. You would find yourself fretting and fuming

Britain's 3-1 Lead In Ryder Cup Foursomes

BEST BURTON GREEN

Ganton, (Yorkshire), Sept. 16.—Britain gained a lead of three matches to one against the United States in the Ryder Cup golf foursomes today, a feat they had never previously achieved in the international series, which was instituted in 1921. Their previous best in the foursomes was a 2-1 lead in 1931.

Seven thousand wildly excited spectators,-most of them soaked by torrential afternoon rains—cheered themselves hoarse as Britain's most experienced pair, Richard Burton and Arthur Lees, gained a last-green victory over the best American partnership of Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum after a great tussle.
